3. Describe the different instances usually included in one of your own reading group meetings.

What happens during a typical reading group meeting from beginning to end - how many children participate, what age are they, how do you choose the books used, how long are the conversations you have when you converse with children regarding the books? Is there usually opportunity for the children to do something of their own creative character, such as drawing something inspired by the books?

Please give a short description of what happens during a reading group meeting with children:
